Clean-cut formality

For the Allure 73 curtain collection, too, clean and rigorous lines create spaces with an elegant, sophisticated contemporary design. Diamonds and squares, interlaced and embroidered with special solid stitching, alternate shimmering lurex yarns and lustrous viscoses.

Velvet coated with lurex foil provides lustre and three-dimensionality to the arrangement which, even for this variation in hues of blue and beige, is a very elegant and clean-cut design.

Geometric Design

The careful search for balance between matter and form is expressed through new geometric signs that frame sophisticated environments with great personality.

Each single geometric shape is rendered through a multifaceted embroidery, in which the different inclinations of the needles make the decoration three-dimensional.
